DETAILED ACTION

Amendment

1. Acknowledgment is made of Reply filed March 21, 2006.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 27 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gammon et al. (US 7,069,061; hereinafter “Gammon”).

Gammon teaches a connection assembly that connects a key pad (439 in fig. 4) to a mobile terminal (400 in fig. 4) comprising:

a mounting frame (430) connectable to a plurality of key pads, the mounting frame further connectable to over-sized key pads (key pad 439 serves as over-sized key pads);

a latch or notch element (431; col. 12, lines 31-34) positioned on an outer side of the mounting frame; and a matching latch or notch element (495) that corresponds to the latch or notch element and engages therewith to connect the mounting frame to a mobile terminal (col. 12, lines 27+).

4. Claims 28-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Wulff et al. (US 7,069,061; hereinafter “Wulff”).

Wulff teaches a method of connecting a key pad (602 in fig. 6) to a mobile terminal (600) comprising providing a transitional frame (608) connectable to a mobile terminal (600), the transitional frame further connectable to a plurality of keypads (602 in figs. 6-7) including key pads with widths greater than the width of the mobile terminal; and determining selection of a key pad from the plurality of keypads, for connection to the mobile terminal by the transitional frame (608; col. 5, lines 31+).

Art Unit: 2876

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-14 and 16 allowed.

6. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Koenck teaches a housing for a mobile terminal comprising a top portion configured to accept an accessory (e.g., battery pack) for a mobile terminal with a bar code reader, through a rail frame affixed to an accessory compartment of the top portion ("Battery compartment hatch 27 attaches to the bottom housing part 12 of terminal 10 through the interlocking and meshing of railings on both the battery compartment hatch 27 and bottom housing part 12." col. 8, lines 19-23), the rail frame comprising a mounting component that engages with the accessory and guides the accessory into the compartment (e.g., "In place of the battery arrangement 28, the batteries can be mounted in an enclosed drawer part with square and round edges, which slides endwise into a receiving compartment..." col. 8, lines 50-53+), the rail frame further comprising a locking component (88 in fig. 2) that engages the accessory within the top portion (col. 8, lines 19-63); and a bottom portion with a handle (314) configured to be held in the palm of a hand (col. 18, lines 55-59; col. 5, line 66 through col. 8, line 63).

Chang et al. (US 2005/0011951; hereinafter "Chang") teaches an optical scanner having a guiding rail to constrain the carrier to move along the guiding rail, wherein the guiding rail is fabricated using metal.

However, Koenck and/or Chang et al., taken alone or in combination thereof, fails to specifically teach the top portion adapted to accept a key pad via a transitional frame, the key pad has a width larger than a width of the top portion of the housing as set forth in the independent claim(s).

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments, see page 8, filed March 21, 2006, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of Gammon and Wulff as set forth above. The examiner respectfully regrets for any inconvenience.
